

THE BRAINS BEHIND SAVING YOURS.™

The Honorable Robert Goodlatte
Chairman
House Judiciary Committee
2138 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

The Honorable John Conyers
Ranking Member
House Judiciary Committee
B351 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

August 11, 2016

Dear Chairman Goodlatte and Ranking Member Conyers:

On behalf of the Alzheimer's Association, thank you for your continued leadership on issues of importance to Americans with Alzheimer's disease and their caregivers. The Alzheimer's Association supports Kevin and Avonte's Law of 2016 (H.R. 4919/S. 2614), which passed the Senate on July 14, 2016. We urge the Committee to take action on the Senate-passed bill. This legislation reauthorizes the Missing Alzheimer's Disease Patient Alert Program, which would help local law enforcement identify and reunite individuals with Alzheimer's disease and their families.

The Alzheimer's Association is the world's leading voluntary health organization on Alzheimer's care, support and research. As you know, there are more than 5 million Americans living with Alzheimer's disease, which is the sixth leading cause of death in the United States and the only cause of death in the top 10 without a way to prevent, cure or even slow its progression. Alzheimer's disease is the most costly disease in the United States and is set to increase like no other. In 2016, the cost of caring for those with Alzheimer's disease will reach $236 billion, and is expected to grow to $1.1 trillion by 2050. Without significant breakthroughs in the development of treatments or a cure, it is projected that as many as 16 million Americans will have Alzheimer's by 2050.

As the threat of Alzheimer's continues to touch more people's lives, the safety of these individuals will continue to be of tremendous concern. It is common for a person with dementia to experience profound disorientation and wander from their homes or care facilities, and many do so repeatedly. At least 60 percent of individuals with Alzheimer's disease will wander at some point during their lifetime. Wandering not only affects individuals with dementia – sometimes leading to serious injury or death, but also causes considerable emotional strain on families and caregivers. In some instances, wandering can even endanger the lives of others within the community.

Kevin and Avonte's Law of 2016 will help Alzheimer's patients who wander away from their homes and are unable to tell people in the community who they are or where they live. The bill reauthorizes a Department of Justice program that helps local law enforcement officials quickly identify wandering Alzheimer's patients and reunite them with their families. Reauthorization of the Missing Alzheimer's Disease Patient Alert Program is essential to addressing the issue of wandering and Alzheimer's disease, and its impact on individuals with Alzheimer's and their family caregivers, local communities and law enforcement.

The Alzheimer's Association deeply appreciates your continued leadership on behalf of all Americans living with Alzheimer's disease and other dementias. If you have any questions about this or any other legislation, please contact Rachel Conant, Director of Federal Affairs, at rconant@alz.org or 202.638.7121.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "R. Egge", written over a horizontal line.

Robert Egge
Executive Vice President, Government Affairs
Alzheimer's Association