Dr. Scott Shreve, D.O., National Director of the Hospice and Palliative Care Program for the Department of Veterans Affairs is a geriatrician and an engaging speaker. He is responsible for all policy, program development, staff education, and quality assurance for palliative and hospice care provided or purchased for enrolled veterans. He led a major initiative to change the culture of care for veterans with serious illness and to assure reliable access to quality palliative care. Half his time is committed to clinical care of veterans as Medical Director and Teaching Attending at a 17-bed unit at Lebanon VA Medical Center in Penn State's College of Medicine.

Dr. Bruno Giordani, M.A., Ph.D., of the University of Michigan, is among the most popular of our speakers, appreciated for his warm, accessible style of explaining complex subjects. He is Director of the Neuropsychology Section and Chief of Psychology. He is an Associate Professor in the Psychiatry, Neurology, and Psychology Departments and faculty advisor for the Michigan Alzheimer's Disease Center. He has over a 25 year history of connecting to the community to promote a better understanding of Alzheimer's disease and related conditions. He is a member of the Alzheimer's Association International Society to Advance Alzheimer's Research and Treatment.
